TAKE QUICK ACTION PREVENT MOB FROM GETTING PRISONER

JACK WISDOM RUSHED TO PRISON AFTER BODY MISS- ING WOMAN FOUND

HUTCHINSON, Kas., Dec. 11. (P)—Rushed out of Oklahoma to forestall possible mob violence, Jack Wisdom, Kansas cowboy wanted in connection with three killings, was brought to the Kansas state reformatory here today for safekeeping.

Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas announced at Topeka that he would call out the National Guard if necessary to protect Wisdom.

The governor and Brig. Gen. Milton R. McLean were keeping in close touch with the situation and had National Guardsmen in readiness for immediate mobilization if it became evident mob action was imminent.

National Guard batteries had been mobilized at Enid and Kingfisher, Okla., last night upon orders of Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma after vague reports were circulated that a mob was forming in an effort to seize Wisdom, who was captured yesterday near Jay, Okla.

Wisdom was captured shortly before the body of Mrs. Harry Pritchard of Wichita, Kas., was found under a culvert near Kingfisher. A search was pursued in Oklahoma for the body of Mrs. Pritchard's husband.

The Wichita merchant and his wife disappeared Nov. 23 after seeking to collect from Wisdom for a worthless check for $214.00. Wisdom also is charged with the murder of Emory Latge, elderly cowboy on a ranch near Meade, Kas.

ADMINISTRATION IS SHAPING PLANS FOR COMING CONGRESS

PRESIDENT HAS PLACED HIS TREASURY POLICY AT HEAD OF AGENDA

By EDWARD J. DUFFY

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (P)—

Mindful of conflicts ahead, the administration has begun to point for the approaching session of congress with a view to advancing its program and disarming dissenters as effectively as possible. Actual formation of recommendations starts this week. At the front President Roosevelt has placed treasury policy, asking his advisers for conferences on what the federal government must spend in the next fiscal year and how to raise the money.

Whatever is decided, it will provide the hub for one of the many controversies to resound in senate and house. Involved is the whole public and civil works and relief policy, liquor and income taxation, budget balancing and the necessity for protecting national credit.

The part to be taken by the monetary dispute depends primarily on what happens between now and January 3, when congress meets. For days the government program has been steady, but with no assurances of stabilization impending.

The capital debates appear likely to be colored by presidential recommendations for legislation, stock market control, some possible alterations in, but not general revision of the securities act, express federal control over the liquor industry, ratification of the St. Lawrence treaty and confirmation of William C. Bullitt as the first ambassador to the Soviet.

Seek to Offset Challenges. Realizing that enactment of this program hinges in great measure on how decisively the treasury challenges to what already has

DOMESTIC GOLD PRICE KEPT AT FIGURE PREVAILING SINCE DECEMBER 1ST; DOLLAR WEAK

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (P)—The administration today renounced a price of $34.01 an ounce for RFC purchases of newly mined gold, a figure that has prevailed since Dec. 1.

This price was $1.21 an ounce in excess of the world gold price set at London for bar gold which advanced 6 pence to 127 shillings an ounce, equivalent to $32.80 an ounce.

The dollar displayed a new weakness on the international market, opening at $5.16 1/2 at London as compared with $5.15 1/2 at Saturday's closing quotation, and later slumped to $5.17 1/2 in the first half hour of trading.

Meanwhile, treasury officials maintained official silence concerning the reported gold leak which enabled London to obtain the domestic price in advance of the official announcement made daily at the treasury at 9:45 a. m., E. S. T. It was understood, however, that an investigation was being conducted to determine the accuracy and foundation of the report.

ELEMENTS BROUGHT VARIED WEATHER TO NATION ON MONDAY

TRAIL OF DEATH AND SUFFERING IS MARKED OVER PAST WEEK-END

(By The Associated Press)

Winter's first widespread snow of the season covered many sections of the nation today.

In the Pacific Northwest, rampaging flood waters brought death and suffering over the week-end.

The coverlet of snow extended from the Great Lakes region over the northern plains states and the Rocky Mountain region; in the east from the New England states south and westward along the Ohio river valley.

New York City was visited with a snowstorm that reached a depth of two inches.

Cloudy weather with more snow and a drop in temperature was forecast for the New York area.

Western Washington, with flood waters from the Puget and Nisqually rivers, was hardest hit. Scores of persons were made homeless. Only two deaths had been indirectly attributed to the floods but 11 deaths were attributed last week to a Pacific northwest storm which preceded the floods.

Heavy property damage was reported in the lower section of Tacoma by flood waters from the Puyallup yesterday, while motorists were marooned when the Nisqually went on a rampage near Olympia. All railroad lines between Seattle and Tacoma were reported washed out.

The midwest was in the grip of a cold wave, with a prediction for further drop in temperatures. Most of this section today. There was a blizzard of snow in the Great Lakes region and over the northern plain states and the Rocky Mountain region.

Warmer weather was promised for the east, which showed over the week-end, Pennsylvania at-

THREE BURNED TO DEATH IN MARATHON DANCE HALL BLAZE

PAVILION DESTROYED IN HAMPTON, MAINE, WHILE BLIZZARD HOWLS

HAMPTON, Me., Dec. 11. (P)—The gay and stormy history of Hampton's marathon dancing contest has ended in tragedy.

Fire, breaking out last night while a blizzard howled outside the pavilion and the footers contestants rested in their coats, cost the lives of at least three and brought injuries to many more. From a blazing dance hall, where the had plodded many weary weeks amid the cheers of their supporters, the thinly clad dancers fled into the dark, plunging knee-deep in snow drifts piled high by a 30-hour storm.

Pajama-clad young men and women, barefoot and many of them painfully burned, milled about in the snow and near-zero temperature seeking partners and friends. The charred bodies of three were found in the ruins.

The victims, all men, were tentatively identified as:

AMERICAN FLAG FLIES OVER SOVIET CAPITAL FIRST TIME MONDAY AS BULLITT ARRIVES

By STANLEY P. RICHARDSON

Associated Press Foreign Staff

MOSCOW, Dec. 11. (P)—The Star spangled banner flew officially over Moscow today for the first time in the history of the Soviet Republic, honoring the arrival of United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt.

The first thing that greeted him when he reached the national hotel—where he will make his headquarters during his brief stay here—was a large, silken old glory fluttering on the staff over the hotel entrance.

Bullitt doffed his gray fedora to the flag as he alighted from the automobile which carried him from the station.

He was accompanied by his nine-year-old daughter, Anne; Joseph Plack, first secretary of the American embassy in Berlin; Keith Merrill, the state department's embassy construction expert; and George Kennan, Russian speaking secretary.

America's first ambassador to the Soviet Union stepped from a private car attached to the regular Moscow train as a light snow fell to be greeted by I. A. Davilovski, of the Russian foreign office, who accompanied Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff to the conferences with President

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT SENDS CHEERING MESSAGE AMERICAN FARM BUREAU FEDERATIONISTS

CHICAGO, Dec. 11. (P)—President Roosevelt told the farmers of America in a message today that "we cannot be on our way" but counseled them to continue co-operating with the administration's program for a "controlled agriculture."

The President's message was read before the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation assembled here to discuss the complex problems of agriculture and the multi-fronted attack of the administration against them.

O'Neal, president of the Federation, pledged himself in an address delivered after reading the President's message to stand squarely behind the Roosevelt agricultural program, the NRA and the administration's monetary policy.

President Roosevelt told the farm leaders that the "maladjustment between supply and demand," to which he attributed economic unrest in farming, had been years in the making and could not be cured overnight.

"Nevertheless," he continued, "a few short months the whole complexion of the agricultural outlook has been changed."

"Money is getting into the hands of the people who need it; it is coming from higher prices for the things farmers have to sell; it is coming in the form of government checks for those of government producers who are willing to swap a hazardous present for immediate improvement and a stable future."

"This money is paying bills; it is putting men back to work in the cities producing the things that farmers buy, and enabling those men in turn to buy things that farmers produce."

The program already has progressed considerably among the cotton and tobacco growers in the

GOVERNMENT TROOPS CAPTURE STRONGHOLD OF REBELS MONDAY

SPANISH REVOLT GROWS AND SITUATION IS TENSE THROUGHOUT NATION

(By The Associated Press)

Political disturbances attended by violence developed rapidly in five nations today.

In Spain, anarchists and syndicalists combined to foment a nation-wide strike and upset the government.

Authorities said they had the situation in hand although 35 were dead and undetermined hundreds injured.

In Cuba, an agreement between the government and its opposition to restore peace and tranquility was predicted near, but there was an outbreak of shooting in midtown Havana.

In Rumania and in the Irish Free State political disturbances parroted of the nature of manhood.

Rumanian authorities were looking for Cornelius Codreanu, leader of the outlawed fascist iron guard who escaped police arresting 3,500 of his followers.

Irish Free State authorities sought General Eoin O'Duffy, leader of the "Blue Shirt" movement, in an attempt to break up the organization. A touring party including William T. Cosgrave, former president of the Free State executive council, was fired upon the Annagary, county Donegal, last night. Both O'Duffy and Cosgrave are opposed to the government of President Eamon De Valera.

In Austria, a series of bombs were exploded throughout the country despite Chancellor Dollfuss' suggestion of a "Christmas truce." The bombings were ascribed to Nazi party affiliates who are opposed by Dollfuss.

Meanwhile, hostilities in South America and China continued. From Anaucon came official re-

LINDBERGH'S PLAN TO LEAVE MANAOS TUESDAY MORNING

FLIGHT MADE ON SUNDAY TO POINT FAR UP GREAT AMAZON RIVER

MANAOS, Brazil, Dec. 11. (P)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh plan to remain here today and tonight, Pan-American airways announced. They will leave about 5 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) tomorrow on another stage of their flight to reach home for Christmas.

Their immediate destination was not known, but intimates said they would go by way of Trinidad and Puerto Rico.

They came down here yesterday afternoon at the end of a 932-mile flight from Para, Brazil, a coastal city at the mouth of the Amazon. The hop required 7 hours and 37 minutes.

As the colonel brought the plane down to an easy landing in the harbor, canoes immediately flocked out, paddles flashing, to surround the craft. An enthusiastic populace crowded to the docks. Sirens screamed a raucous welcome. Banners were waved. The throngs cheered.

The Lindberghs' reception did not end at the docks, proceeding

MARYLAND CAVE SERVED AS GRAVEYARD FOR PREHISTORIC ANIMALS DISCOVERY SHOWS

By F. B. COLTON

(Associated Press Science Writer)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (P)—Discovery near Cumberland, Maryland, of a "Noah's ark of the ice age," a cave with a representative collection of prehistoric animals that lived in North America over a period of 2,000,000 years, was announced today by the Smithsonian Institution.

The cave also is providing new knowledge of the climates in this part of the continent during the ice age, for the bones of different kinds of animals show that temperatures ranged from tropical to sub-arctic at various periods.

The cave is in the Allegheny mountains.

Apparently the cave served as an "animal graveyard" where all kinds of prehistoric beasts went to die throughout the 20,000 centuries of the geological periods. During that period, the ice sheets from the north advanced as far south as Kentucky and retreated at least four times.

The remarkable feature of the cave, say Smithsonian scientists, is the wide variety of animals and the fact that the cave served as a tomb for so long a time. Nearly 50 different kinds of animals have been found in it, including several new to science.

Among the animals are a crocodile-like creature, bats, a tropical peccary or wild pig, tropical types, showing that the Allegheny once enjoyed a climate akin to that near the equator.

Other skeletons in the cave, are of animals such as wolves and the lemming mouse, which live in a cold, sub-arctic climate.

It is not likely that all the animals could have lived together, says C. L. Gazin, who is studying them.

The bones are not arranged in stratified layers, but are all mixed together. And the Smithsonian says they furnish "one of the best cross section pictures of life during the pleistocene yet found in North America."

Approximately $300 Is Secured by Armed Men; Lock Cashier in Vault

BROTHER-IN-LAW OF WOOLLEY TAKES STAND ON MONDAY

Two armed men entered the Powell State Bank, eight miles east of Corsicana, about 1:20 Monday afternoon, locked H. H. Hanks, cashier, in the vault, and escaped with $321.27.

On duty alone in the bank, Mr. Hanks said that two young men, both dressed in dark clothes entered the bank and after covering him with automatic pistols, ordered him into the bank vault and closed the door, taking the cash in sight and making their escape unhindered by the old Bazette road.

Joe S. Wilson, proprietor of a grocery store adjoining the bank, met the young men as they were speaking to them. He said they responded and leisurely went into a model A Ford and drove off in a northerly direction.

Mr. Wilson looked about the bank but failed to see anyone after a few moments. He heard a slight noise from the direction of the vault and walked over and turned the handle, releasing the imprisoned bank official.

County officers were notified immediately and every effort was made to cutoff the escaping bandits.

Cashier Not Threatened. The bank cashier said that the bandits did not threaten him, but ordering him into the vault and closing the door. A check of the cash on hand was started immediately.

Mr. Hanks said that both men were armed with automatic pistols of about 25 calibre; they were apparently about 18 to 20 years old.

The Powell State Bank is located less than 50 yards off Highway 31, and the road taken by the capturing bandits would permit them either to cut back to Highway 73 at Rice or to drop back to Highway 31 between Powell and Corsicana. Officers were watching both possible exits.

Hanks Tells of Robbery. In relating events of the robbery, Mr. Hanks said the two men entered the bank and asked him for change for $1. bill.

While getting the change, the other bandit, with a drawn pistol, said:

"We'll take it all."

Hanks said he told them, "Help yourselves."

After getting the currency in the till and a small amount of silver, Hanks was ordered into the vault.

KELLOGG RETURNS FROM EUROPE WITH STABLE MONEY PLEA

REFUSES TO DISCUSS RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA; FOREIGN NATIONS WONDERING

By MORRIS WATSON

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. (P)—Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state, returned from Europe today calling for a stable currency.

"What we need more than anything else is a stable currency," he said. "Of course, that would require an impetus to business, and public confidence."

Kellogg, now the American Judge in the Permanent Court of International Justice, arrived on the liner S. S. Washington.

He would not discuss recognition of Russia, which he passed over when he was an official in the Coolidge cabinet, but he denied that it could have any effect whatsoever upon the famous Kellogg peace pact of which he was the moving spirit.

"It may be a stabilizing influence in the Far East," he said. "I don't know."

As to the Far Eastern situation, he said, "that's water over the dam."

"The thing I heard most about in Europe was the fact that millions of people are more concerned about money than they are about peace."

"It is difficult for the people of Europe to understand why the dollar is uncertain. I don't believe that the president would resort to fiat money. If he did, it would be the worst disaster since the bankruptcy of 1873."

"No country in Europe that went through the post-war inflation would touch inflation today. They'll hang to the gold standard as long as possible."

SUPERINTENDENT OF CORSICANA SCHOOLS ENDORSES PTA WORK

ASSISTANT OF ORGANIZA- TIONS TO THE CORSICANA SCHOOLS CITED IN LETTER

The following letter of endorsement of the work of the Parent-Teacher Associations in connection with the schools has been sent to Mrs. J. M. Tullis, third vice president of the Twelfth District P. T. A., in charge of rural extension work, and superintendent of the Corsicana Public Schools.
The letter is in connection with the effort to organize a county council of P. T. A.
meetings for which purpose will be held at the Corsicana Public Schools, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Corsicana Public Schools, W. H.
Norwood, Superintendent.

Mrs. J. M. Tullis, President,
Twelfth District P. T. A.
Corsicana, Texas.

Dear Mrs. Tullis: I am admired to you to commend the work of your organization. I appreciate the splendid co-operation our schools are receiving from the Parent-Teacher Associations. Economic conditions have emphasized the necessity of home and school co-operation everywhere. The local organizations have always responded when called upon. I appreciate their efforts to promote educational legislation, in stimulating wholesome leadership in all phases of school work, and in advocating high educational standards.

Specific assistance has been rendered in securing funds for free food to be distributed to underprivileged children. Through their efforts playground equipment has been secured, school libraries and suitable pictures for the rooms have been purchased, and school grounds have been landscaped with appropriate shrubs.

Modern education is trying to help children develop scientific attitudes with tolerance and open-mindedness; to help develop a spirit of co-operation and team work; to give proper emotional control to prevent these maladjustments, neuroses, and crimes that come from conflicting uncontrolled and understood emotions;
to give proper ideals of character
and to give the component parts of a good citizen in instances, the Parent-Teacher Associations have worked side by side with the schools, and the success which we have achieved could not have been made without their assistance.

Our schools are among our greatest institutions. Into them are drawn one person in four of our total population. The future of the common school and the community are one and inseparable.
What the school is today, the community will be tomorrow, but the schools of today are the result of the efforts of our parents who have caught the vision of a life worthwhile.

I wish again to express my appreciation for your organization.
I sincerely hope you will be able to do the work of the association, and that the organization of the County Council may be completed at an early date.

Sincerely,
W. H. NORWOOD,
Superintendent City Schools.

LATEST MODELS IN FORD AUTOMOBILES SEEN HERE SATURDAY

DUAL CARBURETION SYS- TEM AND OTHER NEW FEAT- URES ATTRACT INTEREST

Corsicana automobile fans were given their first opportunity Saturday to inspect the new 1934 V-8 Ford when two models of the product were placed on display in the showrooms of the Dublin Motor Company, immediately drawing a large crowd to view the new features incorporated.

Among the outstanding improvements in the 1934 model are the dual carburetion system, waterline thermostat, an entirely new cast alloy steel crankshaft, red-signed rear springs and improved shock absorbers, a new 15-1 steering gear ratio, new and distinctive body lines achieved principally by changes in the radiator grill, and clear-vision ventilation.

The new system of carburetion
includes a dual intake manifold, and the change in the engine is reported to have added about 10 horsepower to the performance of the motor and increased gasoline mileage about 2 1/2 miles per gallon.

The cooling system is now governed by thermostats that prevent the circulation of water in the motor packet until it has reached the maximum efficiency temperature. The new gear ratio in the steering unit also increases the ease of handling, and accommodates the greater speed potential.

The new ventilation system is built into the body of the car and permits clear vision and at the same time prevents drafts. Individual control is provided in front and rear windows. When in use the glasses are raised at the top, and then the handle
given an additional half turn,
causing the windows to slide back horizontally the desired distance, and the air from the interior of the car is drawn out by the forward motion of the vehicle.

In the main, the new model merely includes a number of refinements over the first two models giving greater comfort and roadability and performance.
Prices remain approximately the same, the maximum advance being $35.

Officials of the Dublin Motor Company announced that the showrooms would be open until 9 o'clock Saturday night to permit automobile lovers to inspect the new product. They also announced that the Ford factory officials had assured them that immediate delivery was possible
on the cars.

Pursley, Corbett, Barry, Bryan,
Purdon, and Emmett. These eight teams were reduced to four survivors Saturday morning, and the semi-finalists played at 3 and 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, leaving Corbett and Purdon the winners, to play the final game at 8:30, and Emhouse and Bryan, the losers, to play the third place consolation game at 7:30.

In the final game, both teams started off in a whirl, and were evenly matched for the first quarter. After the second quarter opened the score was tied, but Purdon pulled away in a second sprint, and according to statisticians, got better as the game progressed.

Norton, rangy Purdon center,
made exactly twice as many points
as any other player, scoring 13 field goals and 4 free tosses for 30 counters. Then, along came Farmer, fast forward, of Purdon, and poked in 5 field goals, and a city basketball for 11 points. He was followed by Rogers, substitute forward, who hit five goals
from the floor, for 10 points.

Attractive silver loving cups were awarded as trophies to the schools whose teams won the first three places, and members of the three winning teams were presented individual trophies, by the Y.
M. C. A. Navarro won the first place trophy, Purdon the second, and Corbett the third. The first place team of last year was eliminated in the first game, losing to Purdon 38-17. The first place team of last year, losing to Corbett 38-17, defeating Richland 38-17, but were out in their second game by Richland 25-17.

The Y. M. C. A. was the headquarters for hundreds of county people Friday and Saturday.
People came to cheer their favorite teams. The tournament was effectively conducted throughout, and officials of the Y. M. C. A. are to be congratulated upon its smooth running, and complete lack of friction.
All the games, while usually hard fought throughout, were clean, and characterized by the very few players that were banished from the court by personal fouls.

At the conclusion of the final game, the trophies were awarded by Dick Jones, physical director.
Following are the box scores of the quarter-final, semi-final, consolation, exhibition, and final

Friday Afternoon
And Night Games

At least two new champions
will be named in the Y. M. C.
A. Invitation Basketball Tournament, on the Y court Saturday night in the final game since two of the defending champions of last year's event were eliminated in Friday's first round of play. Purdon, winner of the second place last year is the only remaining team still going strong,

while Navarro, who won first place
last year, and Bradley, third place winner, were eliminated Friday afternoon.

McCord and Emmett were scheduled for the first game at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, which was the last game of the first round.

Bradley's results follow:
Bazette 0, Richland 2, forfeit;
Bradley 35, Rice 16; Union High 35, Currie 27; McCord 34, Mt. Nebo 19; Emmett 29, Rural Shade
25; Pursley 43, Roane 15; Corbett
39, Navarro 17; Barry 19, Angus 14; Pickett 45, Bryan 8; Purdon
32, Brushy Prairie 17; Richland
25, Bradley and Emhouse 32;
Union High 13.

Pairings for the second round,
which began at 9 o'clock Saturday morning were: Barry vs. Pickett, 8 o'clock; and Purdon vs.
Emmett, 12 noon.

With these games completed,
four teams remain in the running and will begin the semifinal tilts at 3 o'clock. The winner of the Richland-Emhouse game will play the winner of the Purdon-Corbett game in the first semi-final at 3 o'clock, and the winner of the Barry-Pickett game will play the winner of the Purdon-Emmett game at 4 o'clock.

The consolation game between losers of the semi-final games, to determine the third place winner, at 7:30, and the final game for the new champion, will be at 8:30. An exhibition game between the crack Daily Sun team, leaders in the City Major Basketball tournament, and the Bryan Independents, fourth placers in the league, will be tapped off for the cash counts at 6:30 and the outcome of the game will count in the percentage column of the City Major.

Most of the teams winning their first round games Friday were matched with teams far their inferiors, and had little difficulty in amassing substantial margins, before sending in strings of substitutes. On the other hand, the feature attraction of the afternoon's entertainment was a nip and tuck affair between Emmett and Rural Shade. It was anybody's game until the final whistle and Emmett came out with a bare 4-point advantage.

Barry had a merry time defeating Angus 19-14 in the 5 o'clock
game.

The day's scoring honors went to Pickett, who defeated Bryan 45-8 and they were closely pressed by Pursley's 43-15 win over Roane
in the 5 o'clock game.

With the lighter and less experienced teams out of the race, indications were before Saturday
morning's games, that nearly every one of the remaining teams were more evenly matched, and would flash a scintillating type of basketball before the curtain is rung down on the sixth annual tourney.

This year's games are featured by the absence of a large number of fouls, or players being banished from the game via that route. No protests of the eligibility of players have been lodged.

Following are the box scores of Saturday afternoon's and night
games:

Mt. Nebo: Fg. Ft. P. Ft. P. T. P.
Prost, f. 3 0 4 6
Gunn, f. 1 2 4 4
Harris, f. 1 2 4 4
Wright, c. 0 0 2 2

THE WAY WITH CARE.

Time shall each hurt repair,
Sad heart and glum.
The present days of care
In years to come
Shall in some memorized hour
Be looked upon
As the first spring flower
When winter's gone.

The heartache and the pain
Shall lose their sting
Men will look back again
Gladly remembering
How they were sore beset,
Frightened and baffled, too,
Recalling hardships met,
All, all braved through.

This is the way with care,
It frets us now,
Bludgeons us to despair,
Yet in review, somehow,
Far from the doubts and fears
And all the anxious hours,
Softened by passing years
We proudly call it "ours."

SANTA CLAUS RIGHT UP-TO-THE-MINUTE

When Young America, pajama-clad, runs downstairs Christmas morning to see what Santa Claus left, he will find toy industrial codes and other echoes of the National Recovery Program in his stocking. And he will find that toymakers are right up to the minute in converting newest fads and industrial developments into playthings, according to information obtained by the Department of Commerce.

Among new toys offered this year is an NRA game played on a folding board. The player who puts 1,200,000 men to work quickest wins the game. Each player uses discs, which travel in four lanes—steel and coal codes; retail and textile codes; electricity and printing codes. Re-employment chips drawn from a container set the rate of advance, and obstacles are quotas, hoarders, chislers, evaders and buzzards.

That trio of little piggies will appear in book form, and in many types of toys. Before the book was published two weeks ago, more than 50,000 copies had been ordered. The publishers can't begin to meet the demand.

Imports of toys are running a little below last year. Commerce Department figures show, with Japan forging far ahead of Germany as the leading source. Domestic production, hard to estimate at this time, may be a little above last year.

Educational toys are becoming popular, examples being crayons, modeling clay, needlework sets, construction units. They train young minds in form, color and construction.

The old hobby horse is a lot better than she used to be, a flexible-steel arrangement giving Junior a rough ride that stimulates a galloping horse.

Doll houses have period furniture, real bed lamps, and other new wrinkles. Toy stream-line trains have electric lights, and one type of electric train chugs like a real engine.

CHRISTMAS SEALS
There is disappointment in the camp of the Christmas Seal sellers this year. Not nearly so many stamps have been sold as expected. A kind of public apathy prevails in this community, says the seal salesmen.

If the county and city fail to meet their quota, the managers of the campaign will be disappointed, but their disappointment is trivial compared with the depression that will affect the victims of tuberculosis in whose interests the seals are being sold. The managers can endure their disappointment without much distress. How about the others? Will it be easy for them to face the future knowing that their battle-line against disease has been weakened?

Like as not, the people have just neglected this annual Yuletide privilege of keeping some folks well and helping others to get well. It is not likely that any person would deliberately refuse to help in some way to forward the anti-tuberculosis campaign. But the effect of neglect and refusal are the same.

If playing card makers would stimulate bridge, why don't they encourage giving hams instead of lavender bath salts for the prizes?

"Minute Breakfast Planned"—headline. Time or space?

Two recent developments in the government's relief program apparently have done much both in the way of giving relief and getting the nation out of what had become almost a dole system.

The old plan was at least the equivalent of the dole. It was most undesirable to the country at large and above all undesirable to most of the people who had been receiving funds.

In fact, one of the motives behind the change was a desire to bolster the falling morale of a considerable number of people who were on the relief lists. It is not at all surprising that these people would lose hope for the future and see only the darker side of life.

It is an encouraging sign that the system can and will be changed so as to give a broader outlook and renewed hopes until the time comes when normal industrial conditions will permit employment in regular lines of industry.

HONEY BEAR

—By Clive Wood

KNOWN BY ITS WORKS

The Rockefeller foundation, an agency for promoting and advancing human welfare in practically all of its phases, reports that for 1932 it expended approximately $14,000,000 in such work.

The foundation has been in existence since 1912 when it was organized with a capital of $175,000,000. When considered advisable, its management is permitted to dip into its capital in financing its work. Ordinarily the income from its investments is sufficient to provide for all of its needs. The latest report, however, shows that the original capital has been reduced to $147,000,000.

The organization's activities reach into every part of the world. Much of its attention is devoted to public health work, and some of its most important achievements have been in this field.

It would be hard, if not impossible, to estimate the value to humanity of this organization. Its financial equipment and the wise management shown in its operations give assurance that its work is far from complete.

That humanity may receive even greater benefits from it than it yet has experienced is not improbable.

A PRESS MUZZLER

The fight for a free press is never won. Thin-skinned politicians, resentful of publicity directed at their acts, are forever yearning for a muzzled press. Which is exactly the reason why the freedom of the press clause was inserted in the constitution as well as the reason why it will never be taken out.

The latest convert to the press-muzzlers is Rep. William T. Schulte, Democrat, of the First Indiana district. The Hon. Schulte predicted in a speech in Gary that legislation muzzling the press would be passed by the next congress. "And," added Hon. Schulte, "it needs muzzling."

When congress was granted the right to amend the constitution the Indiana politician didn't bother to explain. However, Indiana newspapers should scrutinize the career of this bird closely. The phrase, "vigilance of the press," was invented for political specimens of this sort who, too often, find their way into public office.

There's gold in them a' hills and too much of it is left in the dollar, according to the inflationists.

Our leading gloomist thought, of course, that prosperity would turn the corner and get pinched for making a left turn.

This age has its charms, but it hasn't produced anything with the million-dollar sound of swishing silk petticoats.

YOUNG TRAFFIC VICTIMS

There is no dread that sits more heavily upon motorists than that of children darting into their path without warning. Even the most careful of drivers may have such experiences. Nor is it an infrequent occurrence.

Every year thousands of children are killed or maimed in this manner because communities cannot mix playing children with moving traffic without disastrous results.

And what is the average community doing about it? Playgrounds are available to some children in summer but the roller-skater and bicycle-rider cannot go there and in winter even the playgrounds are closed.

The cities and towns of tomorrow will be planned with this need in mind. There will be no busy thoroughfares for children to cross going to and from school and recreational centers. But the "new town" of the "new day" is still only a vision, allowing one or two exceptions of an experimental nature. Something must be done to make the old town of the old day a safer place in which to play.

Baltimore, Md., is working on a scheme which has possibilities. In the residential sections a little-used streets are to be roped off for the use of playing children. They will provide outdoor skating rinks, hopscotch courts, "scrub" diamonds and bicycle tracks.

Al Smith says he is going to stick to the people who made this country what it is. Al's grammar being what it is, it is just possible, of course, that he really meant "was."

The fellow who first called it a free government probably was making a campaign promise. At least he hadn't heard of the 1933 taxes.

There are two ways to lighten the pressing burden of debts. Some people wait for an act of Congress and some just change grocers.

You don't realize what suffering is until you see an old drill sergeant giving orders to reforestation boys who don't have to mind.

Our leading gloomist thought, of course, that prosperity would turn the corner and get pinched for making a left turn.

This age has its charms, but it hasn't produced anything with the million-dollar sound of swishing silk petticoats.

OCEAN FLIGHT SKEPTICS

Landlubbers of the flying age cannot bring themselves to the conviction that transoceanic flying on a commercial basis is an immediate prospect. In their skepticism they overlook the fact that men regarded by them as authorities on the subject accept scheduled flights by heavier-than-air craft as a matter of course.

Dr. James H. Kimball, the weather mentor for all transatlantic flights from Lindbergh on, sees but one formidable obstacle yet to be removed and is confident that improvements to aero navigation instruments will soon eliminate it. This hazard is ocean weather.

Because the airplane is still largely a fair weather transportation medium, Doctor Kimball predicts that the southern course by way of Bermuda and the Azores will be the first transatlantic flying route between North America and Europe. This route is generally free of fogs and its storms are local.

Apparently this authority considers the airplane mechanically fit for the gruelling grind of spanning the oceans with heavy cargoes of passengers, freight and mail. His is a glowing tribute to the engineers who are rapidly perfecting the flying machine, and to the world's transport pilots.

Man cannot alter the weather but he can conquer it.

What a life! Try to make a good impression and people don't remember you; make a fool of yourself and they never forget you.

Farmers using mules again will find it a little strange at first. You can't leave a mule out in the field to rust all winter.

You find bulls, bears and lambs in Wall Street. But no elephants. Elephants have long memories.

Still time to do it early.

NEURO ACCUSED OF MURDERING WHITE WOMAN IS BURNED

—By Clive Wood

BLACK HAD BEEN KILLED BY OFFICER IN RESISTING ARREST NEAR BEAUMONT

KOUNTZE, Dec. 8.—(P)—A heavy guard was placed about the county jail today to protect three negroes suspected of knowing the whereabouts of David Gregory, negro, before he was shot and killed by officers and then burned by an angry mob on a huge fire for the slaying of Mrs. Melbie Williams Brockman, 30-year-old farm woman.

Miles Jordan, county sheriff, said he had received telephone calls during the night indicating that another crowd might attempt to reach the three prisoners.

He expressed the opinion, however, that the spirit of the mob violence had been dissipated by the violence inflicted on Gregory and indicated that he might release the negroes late today because he believed they were innocent.

Jordan planned first to sound out sentiment in all parts of the county. One of the prisoners, believed to have known definitely Gregory's hiding place in a church belfry at Voth, caused Jordan the most concern and the officer indicated that he might let that negro to "go up country" for a while.

The mob, estimated at 400 persons, took Gregory's body from Jordan here after the sheriff had tried unsuccessfully to turn it over to an undertaker at Silsbee.

Object of Search.
The negro, who had been charged with a criminal assault and murder after Mrs. Brockman was found slain, had been the object of a widespread search in Southeast Texas. He was found at Voth, another small town, and was taken to Beaumont hospital but, upon hearing reports that crowds were gathering, Jordan started away from the city, hoping to obtain a statement from Gregory before he died. Jordan was accompanied by W. W. Richardson, Jefferson county sheriff, and Homer French, a deputy.

While Jordan and the other officers were driving to the hospital, Gregory died. Richardson and French then returned to Beaumont and Jordan drove to Silsbee.

Jordan said that upon arrival at Kountze, he found the town in a state of panic. He told them he was dead. When the crowd insisted, the sheriff said he permitted the hundreds of persons to take it.

Body Dragged Behind Auto.
He then returned to the county jail while the mob tied the body to a rope behind an automobile and dragged it about the town for more than an hour. Finally, the body was thrown on a fire about 100 yards from a negro church. Fallings from fences around homes of other negroes were thrown on the flames.

A. C. Coe of Kountze, county attorney, said that an investigation of the mob violence would be undertaken as soon as officials had enough information on which to work. He asked that anyone else to give information on identity of persons participating make a report to him.

"After the negro had been taken to the Beaumont hospital," Sheriff Jordan said, "we asked doctors and nurses to do their best to restore him to consciousness so that we could get a statement and find out if anyone else was involved in the killing."

Told of Mob Forming.
"He seemed to be coming around fairly well. However, about 7:30 I received two phone calls from responsible citizens stating that a mob was preparing to come and get the negro and I had better get him away."

Hospital authorities also didn't like the prospect of several hundred men entering the hospital and disturbing other patients.

"I got him down to the back elevator and whisked him outside into my automobile. I eluded the crowd and got out of the town and highway. I planned to double back and go to a hospital at Port Arthur once I was safely away from the crowd at Beaumont. However, at Voth, just across the Orange county line, I discovered I had a dead negro."

"I hardly knew what to do with the body. I drove to Silsbee and tried to give it to an undertaker there. However, a mob there seemed bent on getting the body and the undertaker would not have it. I talked the crowd at Silsbee out of seizing it."

Four Hundred in Crowd.
"As I entered Kountze about 400 men, I suppose, surged out of the highway and blocked my way. It was just a sea of faces of silent but grimly determined men. I guess I might have got part of the way through by running over and killing a bunch of white men. I wasn't going to do that to save a dead negro who was guilty of a most revolting crime. I tried to get them to listen to reason but they would not. The quickly dragged the body from the automobile. I could do nothing against 400 men."

"I went to jail where there were three other negroes arrested for questioning in the case. Sometimes later, some one called and said: 'We are coming up to get you, naming on of the negroes. You'll have to kill your sheriff before you do, and mean it.' I replied: 'We have several well-armed officers up here and they mean to protect these negroes. You've gotten all from me that you are going to get.'"

The mob did not come to the jail.

SPECIAL FACE LOTIONS

There are face lotions for every purpose—cleansing, stimulating, softening, etc. Those which stimulate are made so they bring the blood up into the face, thus nourishing the skin, freshening it, making it smoother and younger and healthier. One woman who reads this column every day and often writes me about her own beauty treatments, said she had made herself a marvelous face lotion by shaking together one ounce of turpentine and one ounce of olive oil.

If you have ever done any painting around your house, you will see the value of this, since turpentine opens the pores, and seems generally very stimulating and very good for the skin. Mixed with the oil, it would also be cleansing and lubricating. You might try this—leave it on ten minutes and then wipe off with a bit of cotton soaked in hot water. Then use powder, at cetera as usual.

Then there is the good old combination of rose water, glycerine and lemon juice, used as a bleach. One ounce of each, is the formula. Or half and half mixture of rose water and glycerine, which protects the skin against the sort of weather we have now. Or rose water, glycerine and honey, equal parts—which makes the skin fine and white and also protects it from the weather. Some find this a bit sticky. In this case use just half the amount of honey—say, one ounce of honey to two each of rose water and glycerine.

Cucumber juice, which should be home made, can be added to these various lotions, but as this makes the lotions very bleaching it is a good thing to do for summer or fall, when the skin may tan too much.

Plain witch hazel makes a good mild face astringent, especially nice for wiping off cold cream.

K. A.—You might go back to the place where you had the waving done, and see if anything can be done to improve it. There is no reason why the waves should have gone from your hair in three weeks; possibly a proper re-setting is all that is needed to keep the waves as they were at first. Even the artificial waving it is a good thing to do for summer or fall, when the skin may tan too much.

Four Men And Woman Indicted Bank Robbery

PALESTINE, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The Anderson county grand jury today returned indictments against four men and one woman who were charged in connection with the $4,400 robbery of the Robinson State Bank here Oct. 26.

Those named were W. J. (Whitey) Walker, Irvin (Blackie) Thompson and Roy A. Johnson, life-term fugitives from the Oklahoma state prison; Nick Prince and Dolores Walker. They have been sought throughout the South-west in recent weeks. Walker, Johnson and Dolores Walker have been identified as the three who held up the McMurray Refinery at Arp last November.

The woman was indicted as an aid to the men in the robbery here. She was identified by photographs as the woman who posed as the wife of an oil man and rented a residence here six weeks before the robbery.

Two men entered the bank and forced their way behind a negro porter, and as employees reported for work they were waylaid one by one, were tied up with wire and were forced to lie on the floor.
